The Madrid Inside Art & Design fair (better known as MIAD) is an event that combines art, design and architecture. MIAD features, on the one hand, renowned interior designers, and on the other, domestic and international brands from the furniture, design and lighting sectors that collaborate in the form of product placement at each of the stands.

The 2025 edition has planned a total of 30 impressive and exclusive spaces in a fascinating tour of 1.500 square metres of the emblematic Plaza de las Ventas venue in Madrid, spaces that seek to captivate attendees with the most daring trends in interior design and where creativity, excellence and luxury are mixed with technological innovation.

Alma Light will be present, as a brand, at the stand of the well-known Madrid interior designer Cristina Puerta, where several light fixtures from the current catalogue will be installed. The Thelight collection will feature a suspension and a wall light; there will also be a Tribeca Chandelier pendant, with its classic alabaster shades; the Totem I floor lamp will add a touch of elegance to the decorative space, and an Ophelia table lamp, with its four independently rotating shades, will give a hint of originality to the whole.
