At ALMA Light we know the importance of a website where the information is up to date, where all the graphic, technical and commercial material meets the highest standards. In this sense, we have just updated our website by implementing revised information for all products: new technical data sheets, renewed texts and especially an improvement regarding the 3D folders, which now include the corresponding BIM file to a large extent of collections.

We hope that with this update, navigation through our website will be agile and that the information available will be practical and functional when choosing the light fixture that best suits the needs of each project.
