

FOLD's creative process until reaching the ADI Awards

At ALMA Light Barcelona we are fascinated by product design, and we love knowing in detail the creative process of each of our light fixtures until they become a reality.

In this exciting path, the designer deploys creativity from a simple idea, a concept. The design then requires intensive research, analysis and planning, and goes through numerous meetings with our technical team. All of this involves the development of sketches and drawings, which finally culminate in the final blueprints. From there, we move on to the creation of prototypes with a body made up of provisional materials to check dimensions and volumes.

Some of the designs in the ALMA Light catalog are lucky enough to go beyond our collection to become lamps worthy of an award. As in the case of the FOLD collection (Ms.Andrea Gelpí, Blaumel Studio) that competes in the Delta Awards Selection, 'Lighting' Category of the 2024 edition of the prestigious ADI Awards, that are awarded each year by the Industrial Design Association of the FAD (Foment of Arts and Design) of Barcelona.
