How to choose a bedside lamp

A bedside lamp is an element that lights up and accompanies the last hours of the day, when we most need to rest, disconnect, enjoy a good book or quietly watch TV. Making a good decision when choosing the optimal model is crucial. But... How do you find the best alternative among the available options?

At ALMA Light we have some ideas on this subject... and solutions for all of them. The first thing to consider is the purpose of the luminaire. Will it serve to illuminate that reading time? Will it work as an accent light? Do we need it for decoration? Or to provide ambient light?

If ambient light is the priority, definitely FUJI, TRIBECA or PAROS ALABASTER, with a polished natural alabaster shade, are capable of providing any bedroom with a wonderful and relaxing warm light filtered through the stone. The MINISPOT model is an ideal option for reading, with its adjustable head and a powerful and direct light that we can direct towards the pages of the book. If you are looking for decoration, the original OPHELIA, FOLD, POTLIGHT or NONET models, with their vibrant and super original designs, are an attractive focal point while providing excellent lighting. The STAR table lamp, an ALMA Light classic, or DECO, with its Bohemian glass shade creating magical reflections, would also be suitable for this purpose. And for accent lighting, the CANDLE model is perfect, as it emits a pleasant light and includes a dimmer, or the HOTEL model with its black cotton shade that filters the light and projects it upwards.
