At ALMA Light, we believe that every project has its own light. And sometimes, that light is born from a simple idea. That's how the story began for the wall light that now illuminates the bathrooms of the elegant Legacy Hotel Cascais, part of the Hilton chain in Portugal.

From idea to custom design

A client came to us with a sketch based on our Totem I floor lamp. They shared an idea, some measurements, and a specific need. From that proposal, we launched a comprehensive development process:

- We interpreted the initial concept.
- Translated it into precise technical drawings.
- Created renderings to visualize its integration into the space.
- Broke down the components and coordinated production with our local suppliers.
- Presented the first prototypes for validation.
- And finally, manufactured the full order for the hotel.
