PICA, the ideal floor lamp

Any floor lamp should meet these two requirements: lighting and decoration. In this sense, PICA by ALMA Light is ideal as it combines functionality and a very elegant aesthetic. Designed by Josep Novell and Josep Puig, PICA has a steel structure with an anthracite finish and a wide cotton shade that distributes the light all around. The shade can be placed at different heights by raising and lowering along the mast using a simple retention system, thus adapting to the lighting needs of each moment, whether as ambient lighting or as a reading light.

The style of PICA is super decorative, serene, functional and sober, and its design adapts to very different interior designs, whether classic, modern, Mediterranean, rustic or mid-century. Its shape and appearance stand out in any living room as a floor lamp next to an armchair or sofa, wherever an elegant and striking fixture is required.

The total height of PICA is 152cm. The 45cm diameter shade, available in white or in dark grey, is covered by a plastic membrane to filter the light at the top, and includes an E27 lamp holder. The cable is made of black textile, and the switch is located on the lamp holder itself, which makes it easy to turn it on and off without having to get up from your seat.
