Design by Cristian Cubina

The collection of large TheLight chandeliers, a true ALMA Light classic, now presents its wall version, the new TheLight wall lamp that will complement the collection that until now was only of suspensions. TheLight wall lamp is designed either to be part of projects that include the traditional TheLight pendants, or to be installed individually.

It has the same characteristics of the pendants in terms of design, materials, finish and Led technology. TheLight wall lamp is inspired by the old wall lamps that used to be configured by a metal structure with candles, the result being a perfect mix of tradition and modernity. It shows a spectacular appearance that adds elegance to any space, whether or not a TheLight chandelier is present in the interior design. It is ideal for lighting residential, hotel and retail projects, or any space that requires a select, original and eye-catching wall lamp that provides a lot of presence and light.

TheLight wall lamp is produced in one single model with three arms. The structure is made of iron electroplated in satin gold or nickel, or painted white or black. It integrates two Cree Leds in each arm (total luminaire 11.10W 624.25lm 2700K), and the diffusers are made of solid sandblasted methacrylate. The wall lamp, like the pendants, is not dimmable, but it can be manufactured in a dimmable version if necessary.
