Time to light up the terraces... with Tribeca USB

Design Jordi Llopis

With the coming of the good weather, it's time to pay attention to the terraces and give a touch of light to nights outdoors. ALMA Light proposes the small battery-powered Tribeca USB, a wireless lamp that can be placed wherever it is required. Apart from being a design object, the Tribeca USB's genuine translucent alabaster spherical shade provides outdoor spaces with a chill-out, soft and warm nuance, creating an incomparable atmosphere. You can't stop looking at it!

The Tribeca USB collection has two models, one 20cm and the other a little higher, 24cm. You can choose the color of the base between two options: white or black, but upon request, the finish can be customized according to the interior design. And this little wonder is charged via a USB charger just like an Android phone.
