Projects we love...
Tribeca in Annecy (France)

View online version

Annecy is a charming city on the shores of the lake of the same name, located in the French Alps, an area of great tourist interest. In this context, today we would like to highlight a project at the MERCURE ANNECY CENTRE hotel of this town, where the TRIBECA collection, designed by Jordi Llopis, takes center stage in its bedrooms.

The interior design concept is original and eclectic, integrating different styles with an interesting and harmonious overall result. The TRIBECA sconce looks great there, with its handcrafted feel and Art Deco touch, its clever combination of iron and alabaster, plus the LED technology suitable both for softly illuminating the room through the alabaster, and for reading moments that require a more powerful LED adjustable arm.

We love this project.
And you?
